

Step-1

Consider the matrix A .

The vector b is in the subspace spanned by the columns of A when there is a solution to b is linear combination of all columns of A . The vector C is in the row space of A when there is a solution to C is linear combinations of all rows of A .

Step-2

If the vector is in the row space then the rows are dependent is .